GATLING GUNS CALLED OUT.

Connecticut Guardsmen Sent to Watbury.

"Imperative Need" Because of the Trolley Strike.

Lines Operated by Non-union Men. Crowds Dispersed by Police—Coal-Fired Situation.

WATERBURY (Ct.) Feb. 1.—Eight companies of the First Regiment of the Connecticut National Guard and five companies of the Second Regiment, with two Gatling guns, were called to Watbury today at the command of Gov. Chamberlain because of the imperative need, occasioned by the trolley strike situation. The riot about the streets last night, coupled with threats of further disturbances tonight, led to the call for troops.

There was no repetition today of the violence of last night, but crowds congregated about the streets and had to be dispersed by the police, while there were rumors of an attack to be made tonight on the barn, where the non-union men brought here by the Connecticut Railway and Lighting Company are quartered.

During the day, all the lines were operated as usual, with the non-union trolley men, but though there was some jarring from the crowds, the cars were not molested. No cars were run after dark. Companies A and G of this city, a part of the Second Regiment of the Connecticut National Guard, were called to the armory shortly before 6 o'clock this evening, and remained there under orders.

Gov. Chamberlain, when asked why the militia had been ordered out, said: "Because the situation demands it, I had hesitated about it, but every effort has been made by the local authorities in Watbury to avert violence, and today it seemed apparent that wisdom dictated prompt and energetic action, if law and order and the welfare of the city and State were to be preserved."

Later, fourteen companies of the First and Second regiments, C.N.G., reached here tonight, and were quartered with the two local companies, A and G, under command of Brig.-Gen. Russell Frost of South Norwalk.

All the visiting companies, which average fifty men each, and the local companies, A and G, arrived in the city between 5:40 and 10:15 o'clock on trains from New York and Hartford, and marched to the armory, where the police escort, amid the hooting and hissing of the crowds that quickly gathered.

Five companies from Hartford, one from New Britain and one from Bristol, arrived under command of Col. Edward Schultz. They brought with them two machine-gun batteries. The companies from Manchester and Rockville also brought Gatling guns. The Second Regiment contingent, consisting of five companies from New Haven, arrived in the city and were crowded with people, and there was a noisy demonstration, though there was no sign of active violence. The cries of "mob" were frequent along the route to the armory.

Later tonight, one company was ordered to the car barn, and there was great excitement among those who witnessed the departure, but no outbreak occurred.

MOR STONES THREE MEN.
WATERBURY, Feb. 1.—Violence continued today, though no damage was done. One of the non-union men, who is in a serious condition, was ordered to be removed to the hospital. Three non-union men were on their way to the hospital for a stretcher, when a mob of several hundred men and boys assailed them with rocks. The man ran and found refuge in the hospital, but the mob surrounded the building, and became so threatening that the superintendent telephoned to the police for protection.

Three officers were sent up, and they succeeded in dispersing the mob, but when asked to remove the men back to the car barn, it is said they refused to do so. A squad of officers escorted them to the car barn. About twenty non-union men have been injured in the riots.

EMERGENCY CALL SOUNDED.
NEW HAVEN, Feb. 1.—The New Haven battalion of the Connecticut National Guard was summoned to the city tonight by the ringing of the emergency-call alarm. It is understood that troops, five companies, will leave New Haven for Watbury tonight, to do duty in connection with the trolley strike in this city.

OPERATORS NOT YIELDING.
INDIANAPOLIS CONFERENCE.
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—The Scale Committee of the miners and operators met again tonight to resume consideration of the demands of the miners for an increase in wages. Expressions of opinion heard today indicate that the session will be protracted, and that if the miners insist on the demands already made, there will be no agreement reached, which will mean a suspension of work April 1.

Both sides seem determined, and the operators say they will never agree to the present demands.

ANTHRACITE COMMISSION.
PROGRESS OF ITS INQUIRY.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Within a week the Anthracite Strike Commission, broader, stronger and more democratic than any law court, will be in possession of all available facts and figures bearing on the condition of affairs in the great hard-coal fields of Pennsylvania. The operators practically ended their side of the case Friday, and Monday the contention of the miners will be heard in rebuttal. They will no doubt submit all of their testimony by Thursday, when the commission will adjourn until the following Monday.

Following the testimony closely and noting with care the questions asked by the commissioners and the character of the questions asked by each one of them, it is not a difficult matter to determine which phases of the many issues appeal to the individual commissioners.

For example, Judge Gray never hesitated to denounce the boycott and the character of the questions asked by each one of them, it is not a difficult matter to determine which phases of the many issues appeal to the individual commissioners.
